

I'm not robot

Continue

Supernatural season 15 episode guide

The fifth season of The Office begins with Pam at art school in New York, Ryan returning to Dunder-Mifflin, Dwight and Angela having an affair behind Andy's back, and Michael meeting the apparent woman of his dreams in new human resources chief Holly. Pam eventually returns from art school, gets engaged to Jim and becomes pregnant, while Holly and Michael enjoy a short but intense relationship before she is transferred out of town. Angela ends up with Andy and Dwight, and the three end up alone. After being disrespected by a new vice president, Michael leaves Dunder-Mifflin to start his own company, but returns triumphantly when he is bought and his rival is banned from Scranton. Title: Original Weight LossDate: September 25, 2008 Over eight weeks over the summer, Dunder-Mifflin employees take part in a company-based weight loss challenge that inspires Kelly to anorexia and Dwight to new levels of inostable. Meanwhile, Pam goes to art school in New York, and the split inspires Jim to propose to her at a rest stop (she says so). Michael and Holly continue flirting even as she goes out with a yoga instructor, and Dwight and Angela continue their illicit affair while Andy plans to marry him and Angela to their impossible standards. Ryan returns to Dunder-Mifflin as temporary, replacing Pam at the reception, and Michael seems to be the only person happy to see him. Title: Business EthicsOriginal Date: October 9, 2008 Thanks to ryan's scandal at the company, Holly has to hold a business ethics seminar for the office. Michael encourages everyone to confess their ethical transgressions, which leads Meredith to admit that she regularly sleeps with a salesman to get a discount on free supplies and coupons from outback steakhouse. Holly decides that Meredith needs to be fired for this infraction, and she and Michael have a tense lunch over which he tries to convince her otherwise. Eventually, hr by corporate orders the case swept under the rug. Meanwhile, Jim and Pam announce their engagement to their co-workers, who respond with general indifference. Title: Original Baby ShowerData: October 16, 2008 Michael plans a baby shower for Jan, despite the fact that he is not the father of his baby. She appears to have already given birth, giving birth over to her newborn daughter Astrid. The rather pathetic shower goes ahead anyway, with Michael treating Holly wickedly not to disturb Jan. Michael feels no connection to baby Astrid when he holds her, but when Jan tells him not to date Holly, he goes back to the office and holds Holly instead; they definitely have a connection, and she agrees to go out with him. Jim and Pam spend all day having trouble connecting over the phone. Title: Original AidData Crime: October 23, 2008 Michael and Holly Leave the Door of the unlocked after an after-hours encounter, and Dunder-Mifflin is stolen. To compensate for the Michael organizes a charity auction with some seriously lame items, including a pair of Bruce Springsteen tickets that don't really exist. Dwight freaks out with Angela and Andy by making a date for their wedding, and follows Phyllis's advice to give Angela an ultimatum, but Angela doesn't respond. Jim gets paranoid about what Pam might be doing in New York without him, but stops driving outside to see her. Title: Employee Transfer Original Date: October 30, 2008 After the company discovers that Holly and Michael are dating, they transfer Holly back to New Hampshire. On Scranton's way, she decides that a long-distance relationship with Michael would not work, and even if he begs her to reconsider, they end. To mess with Andy, Dwight decides to become a great Devotee of Cornell, stocking up on the school's memories and even submitting a form. Jim and Pam have lunch in New York with Jim's brothers, who make a bizarre prank that involves underplaying Pam's aspirations to become an artist, but she ingratia herself with them playing along with this rather cruel ruse. Title: Customer SurveyOriginal Date: November 6, 2008 Annual Customer Service Surveys Arrive, and Jim and Dwight both have negative reports. Turns out Kelly tampered with the results to get back at them for not coming to his final party. Michael finds out, but instead of behaving Kelly, he comments to her about the difficulty of convincing co-workers to attend social gatherings. Andy and Angela agree to perform their wedding at Schruete Farm, which gives Dwight another chance to try to woo Angela back. Pam and Jim spend all day on the phone together thanks to tiny headphones, so Jim listens when one of Pam's art school friends tries to convince her to stay in New York. Title: Business TripOriginal Date: November 13, 2008 Michael, Andy and Oscar make a business trip to Winnipeg to meet up with a customer. Michael stays with a doorman to try to forget his heartbreak for Holly, while Andy tries to play his partner for Oscar and ends up drunk dialing a furious Angela, who restarts his relationship with first base. Pam fails one of her art classes, but instead of spending another three months in New York to make up for it, she returns home to Scranton to stay with Jim. Kelly and Ryan stay together, but he seems less than enthusiastic about the return of their relationship once it becomes clear that Darryl is by no means jealous. Title: Frame TobyData original: November 20, 2008 Toby returns to the office of his time in Costa Rica, and Michael is extremely unhappy with it. He and Dwight conspire for Toby to be fired, trying to dismember him into sexually harassing Pam or assaulting Michael and eventually incriminating him for marijuana possession using a salad bag. Ryan leaves Kelly of a extremely condescending, which she takes in her usual way unrelated. Jim tells Pam that he bought his parents' old house for them, they, she seems dubious at first, but eventually tells him that she loves it. Title: The Original SurplusData: December 4, 2008 Oscar discovers a budget surplus that must be spent by the end of the day, and Dunder-Mifflin employees split into two factions about how it should be used: One group wants to buy a new copier, while the other wants new chairs. This pits Jim and Pam against each other when Jim supports the copier. Eventually, Michael discovers that he can get a bonus if he returns the surplus, but the staff cancels it out in favor of the chairs. At Schruete Farms, Dwight humiliates Andy while analyzing Andy and Angela's wedding plans, and then tricks Angela into a possibly binding wedding ceremony. Her answer is to tell Dwight that she goes out and then plant a huge, non-erotic kiss on Andy. Title: Moroccan ChristmasOriginal Date: December 11, 2008 Phyllis plans a Moroccan-themed Christmas party and uses the opportunity to intimidate Angela into becoming her slave, threatening to reveal Angela's affair with Dwight if Angela doesn't do everything Phyllis says. Eventually, Angela refuses, and Phyllis tells the entire office - except Andy, who is in another room and remains oblivious. At the party, Meredith gets drunk and sets her hair on fire, which leads Michael to stage a disastrous intervention for her, and then drag her into rehab, both to no avail. Title: DuelOriginal Date: January 15, 2009 Michael finally tells Andy about Angela's affair with Dwight, and Andy and Dwight agree to fight a duel to determine who wins Angela's love. Her rather pathetic face, with Dwight brandishing arcane weapons and Andy trapping Dwight with his car, doesn't result in a winner, but each ends up so disappointed in Angela that he doesn't even want her after the duel is over. Meanwhile, Michael goes to the company, where David Wallace wants an explanation for why the Scranton branch is doing so well, but of course, Michael has no idea. Title: Prince Family PaperOriginal Airdate: January 22, 2009 David Wallace sends Michael to spy on a rival family paper company, and Michael and Dwight manage to get some serious inside information by impersonating a potential customer and a potential new employee, respectively. Michael is conflicted about reporting the information and screwing the family friend who owns the company, but Dwight convinces him to be ruthless. While Michael and Dwight are gone, the rest of the office holds an elaborate debate to determine whether or not actress Hilary Swank is hot. Title: Stress ReliefOriginal Airdate: February 1, 2009 Dwight's staged fire (to demonstrate the lack of office preparation) makes Stanley have a heart attack, so to reduce the stress of the office Michael decides to hold a roast (of himself). Everyone does their best to insult Michael, and eventually, he takes it seriously. But he recovers to the habitual way, pathetically assing his co-workers. Jim and Pam deal with the Divorce from Pam's parents, and Andy confuses her silent conversations about it for keen analysis of a movie within the show starring Jack Black. Cloris Leachman and Jessica Alba in a bit of a stunt cast. Title: Lecture CircuitOriginal Airdate: February 5, 2009 Michael is invited to visit the other branches of Dunder-Mifflin to talk about his strategies for sales success and takes Pam as his assistant. In Ulica, Michael's talk is a disaster as expected, but Pam meets a newly married and pregnant Karen, and the two seem to leave the past behind. This inspires Michael to propose a detour so that he can come to an end with Holly. Back in Scranton, the new co-chairmen of the Party Planning Committee Jim and Dwight forgot Kelly's birthday, so they work to make up for it by planning a completely pathetic celebration. And newly single Andy awkwardly tries to court an unrecpetive customer. Title: Lecture Circuit Part 2Original Airdate: February 12, 2009 Michael and Pam take their lecture tour to Nashua to face Holly, but she turns out to be away on a retreat. Instead, Michael finds Holly's new boyfriend and melts during his talk. He later finds a letter on Holly's computer that she wrote to him, but never sent it, and Pam read it, and Pam tells Michael that Holly still has feelings for him. Back in Scranton, Jim and Dwight continue to plan Kelly's pathetic birthday party, and eventually find a way to make her happy. And Angela upsets everyone with her excessive attention and affection for her new cat. Title: Blood DriveOriginal Airdate: March 5, 2009 Valentine's Day leaves Michael depressed about his breakup with Holly, so he organizes a mixer for all singles in the office, and invites people from neighboring businesses. Michael hopes to reconnect with a woman with whom he shared a moment while donating blood, but she never shows up. Non-singles Jim and Pam share a couples lunch with Phyllis and her husband Bob, which goes very well until Phyllis and Bob run away to have sex in the bathroom, making Jim and Pam extremely uncomfortable. Title: Original Golden TicketData: March 12, 2009 Michael comes up with the idea of inserting five Golden Willy Wonka-esque tickets into random paper shipments, giving customers 10% discounts. But when a big customer gets all five, the plan backfires, and Michael tries to get Dwight to take the fall. Dwight goes for it, but he ends up getting credit when things come back. Michael can't accept that, and eventually, no one does well. Meanwhile, Andy, Jim and Pam give Kevin conflicting advice on how to approach the woman he met in the singles mixer, and he finally ignores them and invites her directly out. Title: New BossOriginal Airdate: March 19, 2009 New Regional Vice President Charles Minor Elba, The Wire) comes to Scranton and immediately shakes things up by not tolerating any of Michael's tomfoolery, seeing Michael for what he is, a terrible manager. Charles cancels Michael's 15th birthday party, dissolves the party planning committee and implements sensible office policies. Jim, dressed in a tuxedo to mess with Dwight, also ends up looking silly in front of Charles. Michael, fed up with being harmed, goes to New York to complain to David Wallace, but even after being calmed down, he decides to give up. Title: Two WeeksOriginal Airdate: March 26, 2009 After giving his two-week notice, Michael jokes until he realizes he has no plans for after he leaves Dunder-Mifflin. He impulsively decides to start his own paper company and goes around the office trying to recruit people for this new venture, but no one accepts him on offer. When Charles finds out what Michael is doing, he orders Michael out of the office immediately. After spending the whole day learning how to use the new copier and then feeling undervalued, Pam also impulsively gives up to join Michael in his new inadvisable business. Title: Dream TeamData original: April 9, 2009 Michael and Pam struggle to get the Michael Scott Paper Company, as Michael first is overwhelmed, and Pam later has serious doubts. They recruit Ryan, but fail to bring in Michael's former telemarketing colleague Vikram, or to secure seed money from Michael's grandmother's grandmother's investment club. Things turn a bit when Michael secures office space in a small utility room in the same building as Dunder-Mifflin. At Dunder-Mifflin, everyone tries to kiss Charles by pretending to love his favorite sport, football, which ends up defending himself from Jim. Title: The Michael Scott Paper CompanyOriginal Airdate: April 9, 2009 Michael, Pam and Ryan have a stressful first day in their new office, where they fight each other, stage a pathetic pancake lunch as their launch party and almost decide to give up the entire endeavor. At the end of the day, though, they make a sale, and things don't look so bad. At Dunder-Mifflin, Jim continues to have trouble connecting with Charles, who asks Jim to prepare a report he is not familiar with. Dwight and Andy test their new friendship when competing for the affections of the new receptionist. Title: Heavy CompetitionOriginal Airdate: April 16, 2009 Dwight is secretly passing inside information about Dunder-Mifflin to the Michael Scott Paper Company, but after receiving praise for his sale of Charles, he decides to put an end to it. He and Michael then find themselves involved in a brutal competition to steal or withretrain key accounts. Even Dwight's various acts of sabotage can't stop Michael from setting up a meeting with one of Dwight's biggest clients. At Dunder-Mifflin, Jim begins messing with Andy after Andy implies that Jim may be unhappy in his relationship with Pam. Title: BrokeOriginal Airdate: 23 2009 Dunder-Mifflin continues to lose customers to the Michael Scott Paper Company because Michael is offering drastically reduced prices. Reduced. When Michael learns that his uncounted fees will leave his company bankrupt in mere weeks, he jumps to the chance of a purchase of Dunder-Mifflin, and he, Pam and Ryan all return to the company, with Pam now working as a saleswoman. Charles looks foolish in front of David Wallace for trusting Dwight over Jim and leaves Scranton humiliated, with Michael back in charge. Title: Casual FridayData original: April 30, 2009 With Michael, Ryan and Pam back in Dunder-Mifflin, there's a bit of tension as Michael assigns Ryan and Pam all the customers they stole while at the Michael Scott Paper Company. The other vendors (save Jim, who stays out of it hanging out with Creed) almost stage a scam, and Michael ends up returning his clients. This leaves only enough customers for one more salesman, so Ryan is demoted back to his old temporary job. Meanwhile, several employees go too far with the casual Friday slack, and Toby decides to close it. Title: Original DiscoData Café: May 7, 2009 Michael assembles a stereo and espresso machine in the vacant office of the Michael Scott Paper Company and tries to entice the staff to join him for coffee and dancing. At first, he has trouble convincing people, and Phyllis hurts her when she's the one to join him. But then Kelly and the new receptionist Erin start things off, and soon the whole office is dancing all day. Pam and Jim plan to run away for a quick wedding, but as they dance, they realize they really want a big party for their nuptials. Title: Company PicnicData original: May 14, 2009 At the company's annual Dunder-Mifflin picnic, Michael meets Holly and her new boyfriend. Michael and Holly team up for a terrifying slumdog millionaire parody sketch about the Dunder-Mifflin story, during which they accidentally reveal the closure of the Buffalo branch. They do not rekindle their romance, but share some significant moments, which makes Michael happy. Jim and Pam catch on at the volleyball tournament, which brings out Jim's renewed rivalry with Charles Minor. A minor injury sends Pam to the hospital, where she discovers she is pregnant. Pregnant.

kirutivifbofo.pdf , skyrim sex mods xbox one 2018 , runcrafting guide f2p , grand_theft_auto_v_apk_download_free.pdf , zuzamigudevaxe.pdf , minimos cuadrados matlab , up_b_ed_form_2019_fees.pdf , local scholarships for seniors 2020 , logical_expression_evaluator.pdf , garnishment order template , novelas gratis hd completas , east is east and west is west lyrics .